B. If applicable, describe the nature and extent of your practice of law, present and former, and provide the names of your partners, associates, office mates, and employers.

N/A

C. Describe the extent of your jury experience, if any.

During my tenure in the Allen County Prosecuting Attorney's Office I was assigned thousands of cases ranging from misdemeanor battery to murder. As I began my tenure, I prosecuted misdemeanor cases where I tried 10-20 cases to a jury. Once I moved into the Felony Division, I was assigned cases involving sexual assault on women and children. As Chief Counsel, then Chief Deputy, I was responsible for the prosecution of all homicides, high profile felony cases, arson investigations, and cases involving political figures. Over the course of my work, I was privileged to present well over 400 cases to petit juries in Allen County, and approximately 10 cases to grand juries. These cases included all levels of homicide, burglary, child molesting, rape, robbery, drug dealing or possession, arson, theft, possession or production of child pornography, criminal recklessness, battery, etc.

D. If applicable, describe the nature and extent of your judicial experience, including a description of your experience presiding over jury trials, if any.

I was elected in a non-partisan election to the bench, commencing my service January 1, 1997 to the Criminal Division of Allen Superior Court. I began in the D Felony Court, responsible for all the cases filed as well as presiding over the daily arraignment calendar. In our busy metropolitan court, the arraignment calendar would often have 75-100 cases per morning; I then would address my own felony calendar which included jury trials. My first year on the bench I had 35-40 jury trials. Since then, I have conducted at least 25 jury trials per year; however, one year I presided over 54 jury trials. These have been one day trials up to two weeks in trial. Since January 1, 1999 I have served the Criminal Division as Administrative Judge, overseeing the day to day operations of six criminal courts. I supervise the staff, maintain a Court drug and alcohol program for misdemeanor offenders, deal with personnel and budget issues for the Court, maintain relationships with the Sheriff, Clerk of Courts, local police agencies, the Public Defender, Prosecuting Attorney's Office, bar associations, and community agencies, as well as maintain my own caseload of Class A, B, C, and D felonies. I have also presided over a Problem Solving Drug Court since 2002 that has over 450 successful graduates. My current caseload consists of murder, rape, robbery, burglary, arson, child molesting, firearms violations, drug possession, theft, forgery, fraud, confinement, etc. I have been responsible for one death penalty case which proceeded to a two week jury trial, and several other death penalty cases which have been resolved by guilty pleas for life without parole or a term of years.

VI. A. If applicable, list by caption, case number, and filing date up to five of your trial or appellate briefs and/or written judicial opinions.

Judicial Opinions as follows:

- (1) William Henry Duvall vs. State of Indiana. 02D04-0708-PC-98. Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law filed November 13, 2008.

It also provides that otherwise eligible individuals shall not be denied unemployment benefits when they are unable to seek work due to service as a juror.

C. If applicable, list up to five of your contributions to legal journals or other legal publications. Provide titles, official citations, and a brief description of the subject matter.

N/A

D. Include with your application copies of any four of the written materials listed above in Section VI. A., B., and C.

See attached.

E. Describe the nature and extent of any pro bono legal services you have contributed.

I was appointed the original Chair of the District Three Pro Bono Committee by the Indiana Supreme Court in August 1999. I was responsible for establishing a working committee to address the needs of clients in District 3 by creating a culture and environment helpful to attorneys performing pro bono services. I established a committee and collaborated with local bar associations and not-for-profit entities to identify client needs and attorneys to fill those needs. Once created and running, I turned Chairmanship over to Hon. Dave Avery, my colleague in Allen Superior Court, Civil Division.

F. Identify the five most significant legal matters entrusted to you whether as a judge or lawyer, and describe why you believe them to be so.

1. Committee work of the Indiana Judicial Conference

Since I took office in 1997, I have been involved in the committee work of the Indiana Judicial Center. I was appointed to the Judicial Administration Committee in 1997 as a member, then as Chair. This committee updated the Weighted Caseload Study, issuing its findings in 2002. This study (updated again by a later committee) is extensively used by judges across the state to balance their caseloads. It is also used by the Legislative Commission on Courts to determine the need for additional judicial resources throughout the state. The committee conducted an extensive examination of how jury trials are conducted. This study, in cooperation with an organized citizens group led to discussions of the need for jury reform in Indiana. The committee drafted and proposed rules, which were later adopted by the Indiana Supreme Court as the Indiana Jury Rules. In 2003 I was appointed to the Court Alcohol and Drug Program Advisory Committee (CADPAC) as member, then as Chair. CADPAC focused on the programs established by Courts across the State, and is responsible for the certification of all these programs. Its' goal is to ensure that citizens are receiving quality services from professionals within the Courts. The committee worked to increase the professionalism of the staff of these programs, to streamline the certification process, and to provide outstanding educational programs to offenders. We were also charged with the responsibility of educating Judges and staffs within the programs at annual conferences sponsored by the Indiana Judicial Center. We created a credential (Court Substance Abuse Management Specialist, or CSAMS) to encourage staff to increase their skills and professional status. We amended the CADPAC rules several times to accomplish our goals. I currently serve on the Jury Committee as its Chair, appointed in 2009. We were successful this past legislative session in getting legislation approved that protects the unemployment benefits of citizens called for jury duty. We also obtained amendments to the Indiana Jury Rules instructing juries on the accepted uses of electronic devices during trials. The Committee work of the Indiana Judicial Center is vital as it impacts not just the judiciary but the public we serve.

2. The Future of Indiana Courts

As a member of the Judicial Conference of the Indiana Board of Directors, I have been privileged to participate in decisions which have dramatically impacted the State. All the reforms I mentioned above in the Committee work of the Conference must be approved and adopted by the Board of Directors. In June 2008, the Board conducted a retreat to determine a strategic plan for the Indiana judiciary. I was named a member of the newly created Strategic Planning Committee, charged with the responsibility to study reformation of the structure of Indiana courts. We have presented a white paper entitled "A New Way Forward" which has been adopted by the Board of Directors. Like all strategic plans, it is aspirational in nature, but contains specific recommendations to improve the quality of justice we provide to our citizens. This committee continues to meet and study the future of Indiana courts. The significance of this work cannot be overstated: it is an honor to be entrusted with such important work of far reaching consequences.

3. Prosecution of my fellow citizens

As a Deputy Prosecutor, I was entrusted with the responsibility of using my prosecutorial power ethically and fairly. I had to ensure that defendants' rights were protected, that they received a fair trial, and that prosecutions were not vindictive or arbitrary. The constitutional authority of a Prosecuting Attorney's Office is a tremendous responsibility to balance the rights of the defendant against the rights of the victims and the protection of the community. It was never about "getting a conviction". It was always about making sure I did my job respectfully, with integrity, compassion, and with the highest degree of fairness. As Chief Deputy, I had to make sure my subordinates understood their power was not to be abused, but to be used sparingly and judiciously. Explaining all this to victims, and making sure they were treated compassionately was a daunting task at times, especially when what a victim wanted from the system, and what I could ethically do for the victim were miles apart.

4. Drug Court

I have presided over Allen County's Drug Court since 2002. Drug Court is a non-adversarial, holistic approach to the Court process. It is charged with the responsibility of handling cases involving drug-addicted offenders through comprehensive and intensive supervision and alcohol and drug treatment. The program creates a system in which clear choices are presented and offenders are encouraged to control their own recovery. The effectiveness of the Drug Court approach is attributable to its non-adversarial approach, the intensive supervision, judicial interaction, the capacity to deal with relapse and consequences and its ability to integrate drug treatment with other rehabilitation services. Since its inception in 1997, 462 Indiana citizens have successfully completed the Allen County Drug Court Program. They have improved themselves with sober living, the birth of many drug free babies, higher education, better paying jobs, and more stable family lives. All the research and literature indicates that Drug Courts are successful, in large part, due to the intervention of the judiciary. I didn't believe that when I first became aware of Drug Courts. I now know that to be a true statement. The intervention of the Drug Court team in an addict's life is a powerful force for change, if the person is ready for change. Many participants tell us our interaction with them is the only positive Court involvement they have ever experienced. I never thought I would have a professional role in a person's recovery. I can now say it is one of the most positive and rewarding aspects of my job. It is also an enormous responsibility which I assume without hesitation.

5. Opportunities to teach and lecture about the law

I am afforded many opportunities to teach and lecture about the law to a wide variety of groups. In my community, I have been a guest lecturer at our institutions of higher education, as well as at our local high schools and middle schools on all aspects of our legal system. To share the law with these groups is a chance to educate them on our third branch of government, and to inspire them to be better citizens. I have lectured on juvenile law, the death penalty, jury service, the structure of Indiana courts, how trials work, how our local courts system operates, traffic violations, constitutional law, shaken baby syndrome, fetal alcohol syndrome, and many other topics. I have conducted several mock trials at our local high schools around prom and graduation times to address the consequences of drunk driving and distracted driving. It is critical to educate our young people about the impact of their choices and the consequences of those choices now and in their future. I am also afforded the chance to teach journalists, citizens, teachers and other professionals, lawyers, and my fellow judges across the state.

G. Provide the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of three attorneys who have been your professional adversaries in your practice or who have litigated substantial cases in your court and who would be in positions to comment on your qualifications for appointment to the Indiana Supreme Court.
